

HITLER'S 'AXIS' BEGINNING TO FALL APART

Meandering Along the Main Stem
By WASH FAYETTE

Glenn Rodgers is doing his part not only to help curb the black market in gasoline but also to cut down the consumption of gasoline so the boys doing the fighting can have what they need for everything from giant bombers to bouncing jeeps . . . and all he got by way of appreciation when he told his story at the Rotary Club meeting was a chorus of haw-haws. . . . of course, his fellow Rotarians were only kidding him . . . and down in their hearts I know, as he must know, that he has their respect.

Here's the story:

Glenn was walking down the street, eyes on the sidewalk and mind in deep thought . . . probably he was figuring out political strategy that would bring a Republican victory next fall . . . for he's an ardent party man . . . he pulled up with a start and stared . . . there at his feet were three A coupons for gasoline . . . now he has a car of his own and no doubt he could have used the nine gallons the coupons were good for . . . but no . . . he picked them up and kept right on going and didn't stop until he got to the Ration Board . . . there he handed them over . . . and continued to plan to use his car judiciously . . . and conserve gasoline.

Now Glenn, like any good lifelong Republican, is doing his best to oust the present administration . . . but he's not letting partisan politics or personal desire for more driving keep him from going along with its regulations and restrictions for hastening the end of the war . . . and that's what I call good citizenship . . . that's what makes democracy work.

This is rather a hard one to figure, and reminds me of the sailors who perish for lack of water, although they are adrift on a sea of water.

I mean the scarcity of cured ham that has been so apparent in local markets for the past two or three weeks.

You see for months there has been an excess of pork hams in the shape of fat hogs backed up by the thousands on Fayette County farms, waiting until they could get into the glutted market.

And yet, with this great surplus of hogs, one of the most pronounced shortages of cured ham on record is a reality.

One dealer explained that about this time of year is when the packers suspend part of their operations and clean up their stocks and places of business.

When one visits market after market, as has been done by large numbers of people recently, and no cured ham is available, then the "clean up" by the packers must be general and a reality.

In the meantime, it is hard to convince the average citizen that there is a real excuse for a shortage of ham.

"Hey. Give me something different than this Victory underwear," called a man to a clerk when he walked into a Court Street store the other day.

"What do you mean?" queried the clerk.

"One deep breath and you open a second front," replied the prospective customer with a loud guffaw.

TOP GRADES OF BEEF STAY ON RATIONING

Utility Steaks and Roasts Point Free August 13

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—(P)—War Food Administrator Marvin Jones announced today utility grade beef steaks and roasts will become ration-free, effective August 13. Under the beef-grading system, utility is next to the lowest grade, which is cutter and canner grade.

Commercial, good and choice grade of steaks and roasts will continue to be rationed. All other cuts of beef will remain rationed.

WFA originally ordered OPA to remove both grades from rationing by August 1, contending storage space was needed for cattle coming to market. Such a move would have left only the two top grades of steaks and roasts, choice and grade, with point values.

Multiple prongs of British and American armored forces stabbed deeply into twisted German lines today, striding toward Brest and Rennes in Brittany, breaking out in the center and threatening to circle three huge pockets of the enemy.

Marshal Erwin Rommel—German broadcasts confirmed he is in the hospital with a brain concussion from Allied air attack—appeared faced with fresh disaster as Lt. Gen. Sir Miles C. Dempsey's British Second army cracked through the center of the line and reached the position 13 miles south of Caumont.

FARM LOANS TO AID TENANTS IN BUYING

War Food Administration Sets $15,000,000 for Loans

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—(P)—The War Food Administration today announced the allocation of $15,000,000 among the states and territories for loans to tenants for the purchase of farms.

The loans will be made by the farm security administration under terms of the Jones-Bankhead farm tenant act.

The WFA said the $15,000,000 fund should be sufficient to help 2,700 tenant families get started on the road to farm ownership.

Allocations of funds and estimated number of loans, by states, included: $347,356 for Ohio.

YUGOSLAVS DRIVING TO ALBANIA CENTER

Montenegrin City Captured as Operation Expands

LONDON, Aug. 2.—(P)—Yugoslav partisans, now developing a successful operation along their entire front, have captured Plav in southern Montenegro and are driving the enemy toward the Albanian interior. Marshal Tito's headquarters announced today.

A broadcast communiqué said Kladanji and Olovje were overrun in a drive through eastern Bosnia where parts of the German Prince Eugen Division were declared smashed. The bulletin said the Germans lost 560 killed in Hercegovina.

Only one Yugoslav setback was noted. The Germans fought their way from Doboj into Telce in central Bosnia.

Race Disorders Flare In Philadelphia Strike

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 2.—(P)—Gangs of armed Negroes roamed a Negro residential section in northwest Philadelphia today, smashed 500 windows and attacked and seriously injured eight white persons, police said, as race trouble flared in a tangle of Philadelphia's public transportation system.

The police arrested more than 300. Three thousand city policemen and 7,000 auxiliary policemen were on duty.

Police said most of the gangs were made up of teen-age boys armed with bricks, bottles, stones, clubs, knives and guns.

ALL ALONG the undulating Russian battlefield, mighty Soviet forces are smashing forward and shattering Nazis armies. Narva (1), third city of Estonia, has been captured. The Latvian stronghold of Jelgava, great rail center (2), was taken as was Daugavpils and Siauliai, cutting off all but one rail escape for the German garrisons left in the Baltic states. Significant gains were also made on the central front, where Red Army units entered Brest-Litovsk and have now established themselves on the east bank of the Vistula River (3) below Warsaw. In the south, Lwow, Stanislawow and Delatyn (4), 20 miles from Czechoslovakia, were taken. (International)

Carolina Coast Lashed By Tropical Hurricane; Many Flee From Homes

WILMINGTON, N. C., Aug. 2.—(P)—A tropical hurricane apparently spent itself over the swamps of eastern North Carolina today after damaging Wilmington's beach resorts and temporarily paralyzing the city's utilities.

Waves 40 feet high at times erased huge sand dunes at the summer resorts of Wrightsville Beach and Carolina Beach even as the coast guard and details from nearby Camp Davis, a military post, evacuated thousands of persons in the nick of time.

The storm refugees poured into Wilmington, normally a city of 40,000 swollen to double its population by ship-building and other war-related activities, and created an acute housing problem. Hundreds of them were taken in large convoys to Camp Davis.

The Philadelphia Transportation company, operator of the city's entire network of trolley car, bus and subway lines, said that its 6,000 operators had walked out, without union authority. Traffic was at a standstill here, with scarcely a block not littered with fallen trees and limbs.

For four hours last night the area was lashed by drenching rains and high winds. The wind reached a velocity of 60 miles an hour.

TURKEY BREAKS WITH GERMANY; FINLAND READY

Repercussions in Shaky Balkans Indicated as Bulgaria Backs Out

By DWIGHT PITKIN

(By the Associated Press) Staggering under military defeat, Germany suffered two major diplomatic setbacks today. Turkey broke off diplomatic and economic relations with the Reich and war-weary Finland prepared to abandon the Nazis on the eastern front.

Berlin said Turkey's action "must be regarded as a prelude to war." It was apparent, however, that Turkey with an army of 1,000,000 and confident of Allied victory, no longer feared the Nazis. Premier Saracoglu said whether Turkey entered the war depended on Germany's attitude. Turkey's action was likely to have quick repercussions in the shaky Balkans.

Finland Backing Out

Finland was reported making a bid for a separate peace following the resignation of President Risto Ryti, who had promised Hitler that Finland would stay in the war. The new president, Marshal Baron Mannerheim, was said to have received Russian assurances that Moscow was prepared to consider a new Finnish application for an armistice which would guarantee the independence of the little Baltic country.

Prime Minister Churchill disclosed in Commons that the invasion of Normandy fulfilled a promise made to Premier Stalin at Teheran that the operation would get under way at the end of May or the beginning of June. Stalin in return promised the big eastern front offensive. "We had not the tackle" for an earlier invasion of France, Churchill said.

Churchill Confident

As Churchill spoke confidently of victory and declared the enemy is "recoiling on every battlefield all over the world," the British crashed the center of the German line in France and field dispatches said German forces were threatened with a second great Normandy debacle.

The losses of the British and Canadians were proportionately about the same as those of the Americans and "it has been share and share alike all along the front."

Of Italy, Churchill said:

"We may hope that operations of the utmost vigor will be continued by Gen. Alexander and his army throughout the summer and autumn."

He added that while things were

COMPENSATION BILL BEING PUT IN SHAPE

Committee Approves Plans Based on 'States' Rights'

By DON HYNDMAN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—(P)—A "states' rights" unemployment compensation bill, leaving to each state control of benefit rates and standards, was approved unanimously today by the Senate finance committee.

"Thus our troops have cut all roads leading from the Baltic to East Prussia."

Acting less than 24 hours after the measure was introduced by Chairman George (D-Ga.), the committee thus got the jump on the Senate military committee—scheduled to meet tomorrow to consider rival bills under which Congress would "federalize" the compensation program for discharged war workers.

These bills would set uniform rates of compensation up to $35 a week with the federal government paying the balance over state benefits, now ranging from $13 to $22 weekly.

The George proposal would bring an estimated 2,000,000 federal employees — among them workers in government arsenals and shipyards — under the state compensation programs. The federal government, however, would reimburse the states for benefits paid to them.

It also would set up a federal revolving loan fund from which the state could borrow to maintain solvency of their own funds.

VISION OF AIR TRAVEL GIVEN TO LIONS HERE

A vision of what air travel will mean to Americans after the war is over, plus a background of the Civil Air Patrol's activities to date was presented to the Lions Club Tuesday night at the Country Club when Lt. Anson Hayes, commander of CAP squadron 5111-2, three other CAP officers and an Army Air Force officer spoke.

Lt. Hayes spoke of the CAP's hurried beginnings at the outbreak of the war when its chief duties were flying coastal patrol—patrols made solely by civilian aviators who were too old to join the air corps. Later expansion to border and forest patrols came when the CAP had proven its worth in helping to avoid the submarine menace.

Expansion to a wing of the CAP in each state—Ohio's wing is commanded by Lt. Col. Stone in Columbus—and a goal of 250,000 more CAP members by December 7 were presented by Lt. Hayes. He emphasized that the CAP is the only organization which gives mental screening tests for the air corps.

"The CAP as a unit gives boys and girls of 17 years or older an opportunity to get a complete ground school course of instruction along with military discipline which will help them regardless of the branch of service they enter," Lt. Hayes said.

The CAP is expected to become a permanent agency after the war, Lt. Hayes said. General Henry H. Arnold, commanding general of the air forces, is said to have hinted that he hoped the army would not have to train combat pilots after the war and that every 18-year-old would learn to fly to have a reserve of trained fliers in case of any other aggression against the United States. The CAP would absorb this training, Lt. Hayes said.

Chain Of Ports

A chain of airports, from huge ports with accommodations for every type of ship to small fields for cities from 5,000 to 10,000 was described as a not-so-distant possibility by Hayes. CAP as a means of solving postwar air traffic problems was proposed by Capt. Zireisoffi, CAP officer in charge of the Cincinnati area. Capt. Dwight of the army air corps, said the CAP gave training to boys and girls now that would be invaluable when the air age that is anticipated after the war becomes a reality.

Lt. B. P. Finkbone, CAP officer who has attended most of the CAP flight meetings here, appealed to the Lions Club members to join the organization.

Two movies, "Know Your Enemy" and "Mission Accomplished" were shown after the speakers had finished.

During the business session, Charles Orr was named chairman of a nine-man committee which will help load a box-car with salvage on Sunday.

Guests were C. R. Bohn, William Blakesley, George Hall, David Ellies, John Hyer, Lt. Finkbone, Lt. Hayes, Lt. Long, Capt. Dwight and Capt. Zireisoffi.

southern half is in American hands, the preparatory stages for a northern cleanup were dealt Japanese troop concentrations. Yank ground forces straightened their line across the island north of the capital city of Agana with gains of a half mile to three miles which overran four small towns.

Rota Invaded, Say Japs

While Timan Island has been conquered, enemy resistance is disintegrating rapidly on Guam and a broadcast credited to Tokyo today said American troops have launched their fourth Marianas invasion with landings on Rota.

There was no Allied confirmation of the reported move against Rota, which lies between Guam and Tinian, but 22 American sea and air attacks since June 11 presumably had it ripe for invasion.

Allied forces on New Guinea expanded their Vogelkop Peninsula beachhead and went over to the offensive 700 miles eastward against 45,000 hemmed-in Japanese in the Aitape-Wewak sector.

The Americans, encountering no opposition since their Monday landing at Sansapor village at the northwest tip of New Guinea, branched out 10 miles from the beachhead and got busy clearing the land for an airfield some 600 miles from the Philippines.

American battalions crossed the Driniumor River east of Aitape and attacked enemy contingents who have been trying to break out of their trap. Gen Douglas MacArthur's airmen, meanwhile, continued attacks on Japanese shipping off Halmahera, the island which stands between his forces and the southern Philippines.

Brig. Gen. Robert Douglass Jr., commanding the 7th Airforce, explained the avid American quest for airdromes in the Pacific, saying: "the entire Pacific War has thus far been a war for bases from which to operate air power. We are moving closer to where we can kill him (the Japanese) by blasting his heart out — with bombs."

Appraisal of Japs

Prime Minister Churchill, taking note of "important and expanding successes" in the Pacific, told Commons today he felt "that the interval between the defeat of Hitler and the defeat of Japan will be shorter—perhaps much shorter—than I had at one time supposed."

Churchill declared the American Navy, already twice the size of Japan's "largely immobile naval resources, would have a greatly strengthened British eastern fleet to work with before the year's end."

He added that Allied supply routes in Burma were now carrying far more tonnage than was ever hauled over the old Burma Road.

Churchill expressed regret that Argentina "has chosen to daily with evil and also, not only with evil, but with the losing side."

"Nations must be judged by the part they play," he said, "not only belligerents but neutrals will find their position in the world will not remain entirely unaffected by the part they have chosen to play in the crisis of war."

Argentina, he said, "has not seen fit to declare herself wholeheartedly, unmistakably and with no reserve and qualification on the side of freedom."

The break is effective at midnight tonight.

However, German propagandist professed to welcome the appointment of the old soldier to succeed Risto Ryti.

Reds Assure Finns

Marshal Baron Mannerheim, Finland's new president, was believed today to have received Russian assurances that Moscow is prepared to consider a new Finnish application for armistice which would guarantee Finland's independence.

It was learned reliably that the assurances were given the Finnish commander in chief even before he assumed the presidency from the resigned pro-German, Risto Ryti.

A source whose information on events in Finland usually has proved up to the minute expressed hope that contact was made with Moscow probably more than a week ago, through Swedish intermediaries.

"It is my impression that the Russians said they were willing to consider a new application for an armistice and still were prepared to respect Finland's independence," he said.

"I imagine Moscow set as a requirement that Finland declare her willingness to capitulate, after which the Russians would be willing to receive a delegation to discuss what this would mean in practice."

After two hours of debate, Commons agreed on the recess until September 26.

Turkey Breaks

Turkey broke off diplomatic and economic relations with Germany today in an action which Berlin broadcasts declared "must be regarded as a prelude to war."

This setback for Hitler on the Balkan flank followed swiftly upon a governmental shift in Helsinki which was believed the first step toward taking Finland out of the war as a co-belligerent of the Reich. This shift moved Marshal Baron Carl Gustaf Mannerheim to the presidency to succeed Risto Ryti, resigned.

Turkey's severance of ties with Germany was disclosed by the Turkish home radio and was confirmed almost immediately by Berlin broadcasts.

Premier Sukru Saracoglu announced the cabinet's decision to make the break, telling the National Assembly that it had been requested by Britain, with United States support. The Assembly promptly ratified the decision.

Britain had promised Turkey "economic and financial help and war equipment," the Premier said, "to meet the difficulties which would arise" from the action.

The break is effective at midnight tonight.

War Up to Hitler

Speaking before 413 delegates of the Assembly, Saracoglu said the step did not mean that Turkey would enter the war, but that such a possibility "would depend on the attitude of the other side."

This indicated Turkey, which has more than 1,000,000 well-trained soldiers, would enter the fight only if Germany started hostile action.

Saracoglu said that Britain, with United States support, had asked Turkey "within the limits of our agreement, (mutual assistance alliance) to break diplomatic and economic relations" with Germany.

The break—a major blow to German prestige—may have an important effect upon shaky Balkan satellites, particularly Bulgaria, which has shown increasing indications recently of desiring to leave the company of Germany and move closer to Soviet Russia.

Turkish trade with Germany already is drastically reduced. It cut off shipments of chrome several months ago. Such strategic materials as cotton, copper, fish oil, seeds and mohair now will be barred.

Blocking Thrift and Economy

When James F. Lincoln last fall told members of the Ways and Means Committee of the national House of Representatives about unsound rulings of the treasury department, there was a mild sensation but little result.

In appearing before the committee Lincoln related to members a story almost astounding in nature in which he charged that officials of our own government of these United States actually had told him that there is a definite limit to what should be paid any individual who works with his hands.

Despite every evidence, proving conclusively that the system of incentives to workers which Jim Lincoln installed many years ago in his Cleveland plant has been directly responsible for saving Uncle Sam many millions of dollars, the treasury department stubbornly insists on penalizing Lincoln for doing the very thing that has made these savings possible.

On July 11, 1944, still harassed by the treasury department, Lincoln, as a final resort, sent a letter to every member of congress. That letter should be read by every American citizen and especially by every worker who works with his hands.

The treasury department, in its high-handed, arbitrary treatment of Lincoln, has issued a challenge that no American worker can afford to ignore. While on the face of it Lincoln seems the one to be "taking it on the chin," the American worker is the one who is getting it in the solar plexus. Here follows the Lincoln letter:

"I am appealing to you after having exhausted every other method available for our protection. Our problem is of national importance. The treasury department does not understand our incentive system. Because of its lack of understanding, it has assessed us for the years 1940-41 over $1,600,000. This amount is actually a large part of the compensation of our men during that period.

"Our incentive system has already saved the war effort more than $150,000,000 in the type of products which we manufacture. If applied generally throughout industry it would have saved the nation more than half the present cost of making the tools of war. IF INCENTIVE HAD BEEN USED, NEITHER THE FOURTH NOR FIFTH WAR LOAN WOULD HAVE BEEN NECESSARY UP TO THIS TIME. Will you stop this travesty?"

There endeth the Lincoln letter. May our legislators heed the plea of this Twentieth Century "Emancipator" for justice for the workers of America.

Regaining Lost Ground

Thirteen hundred and seventeen days after the first American soil fell to the Japanese aggressor, the Americans came back to reclaim it. In those 1317 days, defeat and discouragement have turned to determined confidence, weakness has turned to strength. Foot by foot the Americans have driven back their enemies in island after island. By sea and air they have followed them and harried them, taking hard blows but dealing harder.

At last they have come back to Guam where on Dec. 11, 1941, the garrison of a few hundred Americans fell to an invading force of 8000.

The return was more than the latest strategic move in the steady advance toward Tokyo, though strategically Guam is a prize. It is the largest island between Hawaii and Japan and the Philippines, the bottom rung of a ladder of islands that leads up to Japan itself. It has an excellent harbor and good airfields.

But it has more for a nation that is peace-loving but proud, that by natural inclination and long habit has been fierce to guard its own. Pearl Harbor may have been repaid with interest in a cumulative string of smashing victories. But on Guam a part of America is being regained, and Americans who died to protect American soil are being avenged there.

The Stomach Ulcer—Its Possible Cause, and Treatment

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE CAUSE OF ulcer of the stomach is not known and has led to many speculations. An ulcer is a round area on a mucous membrane surface—which includes the skin, the mouth cavity, the cornea of the eye, etc., which has been denuded of its membranous covering.

Theoretically thinking of all the things which could cause such a thing, there is first mere abrasion, scratching off the surface with a sharp instrument or burning, including chemical burns by fire. Second, infection by germs can eat off the upper surface of a membranous tissue. Third, poor circulation in the affected part, as is the case in ulcers of the skin of the legs from varicose veins. And, fourth, a cancer can appear as an ulcer.

Applying this theoretical reason to ulcer of the stomach we see immediately that some of the causes do not operate at all—cancer, for instance, and abrasion with a sharp instrument. An ulcer of the stomach is not cancer. Some doctors have tried to prove that circulatory disturbances in the stomach wall, such as embolism, is the cause of ulcers. Mayo Clinic Treatment

The important feature in treatment has recently been re-employed by Smith and Rivers of the Mayo Clinic. They reject all the faddy treatments which have arisen so frequently and been as frequently rejected in recent years. The fundamental principles of treatment are:

Rest and elimination, so far as possible of the nervous factors.

Diet—blanc. Avoid sweet, sour, spiced and fried foods. Depend upon milk and cream mixed—half-and-half—lean meat, eggs, pured vegetables, toast, fruit juices, cream soups.

Neutralization of excess acidity by soda and calcium carbonate or aluminum hydroxide.

Elimination of infection. Perseverance in treatment. Make taking milk and cream at 10 a. m. at 3 p. m. and at bedtime a lifelong habit.

Mayo Clinic Treatment

S. J. M.: I was dismayed to read in a recent article that smoking tends to aggravate (maybe actually cause) thrombangiitis obliterans of the feet.

Answer: That's right.

The Mayo Clinic patients are told "You can either have your cigars or your toes—you can't have both." But smoking does not cause the disease—I hope, I hope, I hope.

Cases Among Soldiers

If so we would suppose that the stresses of combat service would cause a good many soldiers, sailors and airmen to come back to the Mayo Clinic.

Answer: I certainly would. The daughter who had taken care of her father until he was 95 was asked the reason for his long life.

She replied—"I feed him equal parts of whiskey and flattery and I don't know which does him the most good.

silicosis film for entertainment we'd have to turn him down."

Only five days a year is the rule against entertainment relaxed. For the past two Christmases the division has invited lonely servicemen to enjoy revivals of feature films of long ago.

The war has first call on the division's facilities. The Army, Navy and civilian divisions of government are finding unexpected treasures of information in their recesses. Cooperation with the Library of Congress has widened this particular aid to the war effort. The library is custodian of millions of feet of paper photographic prints of movie film, filed under the copyright law. Technicians at the Archives built a special camera which can photograph the paper tape, reproducing the film in usable negative form.

Archives experts, working with the Bureau of Standards and film makers, have cooperated in development of film expected to last from 300 to 500 years.

The big fireproof storage rooms contain not only movies of every president since Cleveland, but recordings of the voices of all those since Woodrow Wilson.

a rather fetching little number, what there is of it. Talk about exposure!"

"Sorry," said Judith shortly. "You realize you are only a romantic child," he said, "so I wasn't any longer. How about getting that suit wet?"

"Matthew, don't—" But he picked her up, and with no particular gentleness, flung her into the pool.

That night sitting at dinner with Lynn and his mother, Matthew found himself regarding them with an exasperated curiosity. Lucky, he thought, that I sort of grew up accepting Lynn, liking him better than any other man I ever knew, or I'd take a punch at him, just in case . . .

But there wasn't any "in case." Knowing Lynn, knowing his mother, he couldn't think, even briefly, of a situation with a capital S. Something like compunction stirred him for a moment. Sure, as he had told Judy, sure, he knew that Mortimer was fond of Mary Norman . . . if you just took that for granted. But he was really deeply in love with her?

Matthew was more than thirty, and a doctor. He knew it was perfectly possible for a man of Lynn Mortimer's age to be in love; and for a woman of his mother's age, as far as that went. He had seen more than one of them in his practice.

Judith said crossly, "Oh, do grow up, Matthew! He's in love with her—isn't he—and has been for years."

Matthew's mouth was a straight line. "Have you forgotten that he has an insane wife?"

"No, I haven't," answered Judith, "and neither has he. At least that's the kind of man he is. But it's tragic. They're such good companions . . . and if anyone deserves a break, your mother does. And Mr. Mortimer too."

"Break?" He stared at her blankly. "She has everything in the world, her work, her friends, good times."

"And companionship?" asked Judith.

"I'm still around," declared Matthew.

Judith said after a pause, "Of course you are. But how about the companionship of a contemporary?" She clasped her hands around her knees. "Of a special one, a man she could love and with whom she could grow happily."

He interrupted. "You don't play polo?"

"I sit on the side lines and wait for the fractures."

She said, "Well, maybe Jimmy isn't interested in clinics."

"Bet he thinks it's an alimony jail!"

"Sure, I know he's fond of her . . . and she of him. But Judy, take my word for it. She's the type who loves one man . . . and marries him. And no other."

"Perhaps," murmured Judith. "You wouldn't know about that," asserted Matthew.

She took off her glasses and looked at him. Her very blue eyes blazed. "Wouldn't I?"

A servant came tottering down the lawn.

"Cocktails," deduced Matthew. "Well, I'd better swim first; if I drink I'll drown." He rose and pulled Judith to her feet. She asked,

Men's Shoes Are Filled by Women at War

By ADELAIDE KERR

Women of the United Nations played a far greater role in World War II than in any other war—and played it in far greater numbers.

For the first time in modern history women fought side by side with men in organized groups.

Chinese women served in the army, organized and led their own guerrilla bands to battle the Japanese. Yugoslav women shouldered guns to fight the Nazi guerrillas. And many a woman seized any weapon she could find and blasted away on her own.

Russian women piloted combat planes and dropped from the skies in parachutes to nurse the wounded on the snow-covered fronts.

American and British nurses cared for wounded in the torrid heat of Pacific warfare and American Red Cross girls served doughnuts and coffee to doughboys on the European front.

For the first time too, women of the United Nations served in the uniforms of their country's armed forces or auxiliaries. American,

Combined Meet Of Church Classes

The Victoria and Brotherhood Bible classes of the First Baptist Church assembled at the Fayette County Children's Home with Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Jackson as host and hostess for the annual picnic supper and business meeting which followed.

Around forty-five members of the two classes and their families enjoyed a most delicious and bountiful meal, which was served from one long table on the spacious lawns surrounding the home. Bowls of garden flowers were used as table decorations.

Following a prolonged and enjoyable supper hour, the classes had a combined devotional period with Mrs. W. H. Wilson, the leader, in charge. They then adjourned to separate rooms at the home for their business meetings.

The Victoria class discussed the sending of food and clothing kits to Russia to help relieve the suffering being undergone by civilians there. Mrs. Walter McLean, newly-appointed teacher of the class, was installed in her office and Mrs. Ott Reno was voted to be the press reporter.

Twenty-nine sick calls were reported and the meeting closed with the benediction.

Softball Takes Spotlight Here With Auditor Game Coming up

Softball today definitely holds the sports spotlight here.

For one thing the double-elimination tournament of the City League is now moving into the center of the whirlpool and for another, Ferguson's Auditors, generally conceded to be one of the best if not the best in the state, is scheduled to come here Friday evening for a game with a star-studded API league outfit at Wilson Field.

There was no game slated for the elimination tourney Tuesday evening.

But, the Wilson boys, acknowledged to be "the team to beat" are to meet the Co. D Guardsmen in the first game of the Wednesday (today) evening doubleheader with the API and Lions clashing in the nightcap.

The API boys admittedly took a hold of something hot when they booked the Auditors. Realizing that they will have to have plenty of offensive power as well as a tight defense, the API bosses have arranged to bolster their team with a quartet of players from the tough Wilson outfit.

As things stack up now, the regular API team will take the field with "Red" Reno, an outfielder; "Red" Wilson, a pitcher; Glen Tatman, a shortstop, and Jim Curry, a shortstop, loaned by the Wilsonians for the game, some place in the lineup.

While fans here are under no illusions and anticipate a tough game, the general impression is that the cream of the City League, as represented by two of its best teams can give the Auditors a tough battle.

Of one thing they all agree, however—that it should be a little left after paying $30 to the Auditors for expenses.

Richard Jacobs, a spokesman for the API team and George Mira, the league director, said that the API-Auditor game had two main purposes—to provide some top-notch softball for the fans here and to get a little money in the purse to meet some of the expenses of running the league, such as lights and equipment.

A charge of 25 cents is to be made—league games have been on a pass-the-hat basis—in the hope that there will be a little left after paying $30 to the Auditors for expenses.

agreement. It went as a "suspended" game to be completed Sept. 25. A Chicago-Philadelphia doubleheader was postponed because of a bus and trolley strike in Philadelphia.

Reds Beat Giants

The Cincinnati Reds moved toward home today at the conclusion of a successful eastern invasion in which they won 10 of 16 games.

They stop off today at Syracuse to play the chiefs of the Eastern League an exhibition contest and open the home stand Friday night against the "try-and-catch-us" St. Louis Cards.

The Reds took the finale of a six-game series with the New York Giants yesterday, winning 5 to 4, with Frank McCormick's big bat responsible for four Cincinnati runs.

Neither Clyde Shoun nor Jack Brewer, starting hurlers were around at game's end, both doing fade-outs in the eighth. Ed Heusser replaced Shoun and was credited with his ninth victory of the season.

Only the Boston Red Sox, who won 9 of 13 starts, upheld the honor of the east in either league with a few scattered games to be played before the clubs head home.

Washington, winner of only one in 16 and loser of 11 straight, hit bottom with an .063 mark for the team.

One day fun-loving Fred Haney, Mud Hen manager, called Cullenbine aside just before the game and whispered:

"Do your best out there today, Roy. A couple of scouts are in the stands and want to talk to you after the game."

Roy had a "3 for 4" day, made a couple of circus catches, and felt just a bit chesty as Haney led him to a box behind the Mud Hen dugout.

"Roy," Haney said, "here are the scouts who wanted to meet you."

And there, faces beaming, were two Boy Scouts—in full uniform—looking worshipfully at their flustered favorite.

Here and There

Al Schacht baseball's clown prince, expects the Yankees to win the American League pennant again ... the citizens of Pittsburgh, Kan., can't determine which major league to concentrate on—for both second baseman Don Gutteridge of the league-leading Browns, and catcher Ray Mueller of the Reds, are from there—and they are cousins.

COUNTY HIRES WOMAN OFFICER FOR ATTENDANCE

County Courts

SUITS DISMISSED

The divorce action of Mary Katherine Smith against Eugene L. Smith has been dismissed at request of attorney for plaintiff. An entry dismissing the case of R. W. Bouedim against the Morton Show Cases, Inc., has been made. It is noted that the case was compromised and settled in full.

DIVORCES GRANTED

Two divorces have been granted by Judge H. M. Rankin in Common Pleas Court, this week.

The first is Loring Williams from Alma Williams, on grounds of gross neglect of duty. Defendant restored to her maiden name of Alma Masters.

Frances Rayburn from Kenneth Rayburn, on grounds of gross neglect of duty. Plaintiff is given custody of child and defendant is to pay $15 weekly, and plaintiff also given possession of home and household goods.

DIVORCE SOUGHT

Suit for divorce and restraining order has been filed in Common Pleas Court by Ethel Adams from Roscoe Adams, on grounds of gross neglect of duty.

Parties were married Nov. 10, 1948, in Cincinnati. Plaintiff asks alimony, money for support of their children and other relief. A restraining order preventing defendant from interfering with plaintiff in any way was issued. John B. Hill represents the plaintiff.

For three years Miss Pinkerton taught in Central School in Washington C. H. She was school lunch supervisor for the county school system when the lunch program was organized seven years ago. She was with the REA and WPA in Fayette County and later did administrative work with the WPA in Dayton and Cincinnati. She returned to Washington C. H. a little less than a year ago to live with her mother, Mrs. T. S. Pinkerton.

Another facet of Miss Pinkerton's new position with the county schools will be to deliver books from the Carnegie Public Library to the schools. Last year, teachers themselves called for and returned the books. Up until the time the WPA disbanded, a WPA driver delivered the books. As plans stand now, Miss Pinkerton will take the books of the teachers' selection to the schools.

RACE DISORDERS FLARE AS TRANSPORTATION TIED BY PHILADELPHIA STRIKE

ization, in resentment at the hiring of eight Negro trolley car operators.

Fist fights, the hurling of milk bottles at passing automobiles and the smashing of house and store windows sent police cars scurrying from one section of the city to another in attempts to restore order.

At least ten persons were hurt, one critically.

John Young, 39, was dragged from his automobile and beaten unconscious with a brick in a heavily populated Negro district in the Ridge Avenue area, police said.

Young, the police report added, had stopped his automobile after Negroes showered it with coal.

The police said a white woman was slugged by a Negro in the same district.

Thousands of employees of the huge Philadelphia Navy Yard were unable to report for work.

The Army sent 50 trucks here from Fort Dix, N. J., to help provide transportation for its war workers today, but there was no immediate move by the Army to take over the public vehicles.

Army and Navy officers, and executives of the CIO Transport Workers' Union, representing the company's workers, appealed unsuccessfully to the men to return to their jobs.

No immediate solution to the tie-up appeared in sight.

Frank P. Carney, president of the independent union, spoke at a mass meeting of strikers last night.

"We don't want Negroes and we won't work with Negroes," he shouted to the yelling, cheering crowd.

"This is a white man's job. Put the Negroes back where they belong—back on the roadway."

As the tieup entered its second day the city took on a pre-war appearance.

More automobiles clogged the streets than at any time since the start of gasoline rationing. The OPA had authorized emergency gasoline rations for all drivers.

YOU CAN'T BUY BLOOD—BUT YOU CAN DONATE IT

Sergeant Lives After 50-foot Fall Because of Blood Transfusions

Doctors on the battle-fronts can't buy blood. The folks here at home can only give it. This is how it is used.

"Down in the South Seas, a roaring torpedo boat raced to shore with what was once the strong body of Sergeant John Dorton, 23, of Kentucky. A 50 foot fall had turned that body into a broken caricature of life—a broken back, cracked pelvis, fractured skull, smashed jaw, three breaks in the right knee, compound fracture of the right thigh, a cracked wrist, both arms broken, all fingers and toes broken.

"What could you do with a case like that? Where could you begin?

"The doctors at the little island field hospital began by keeping him alive with one blood transfusion.

fusion and another and another. He stayed alive long enough to be moved back to America. Then with more blood transfusions, other physicians commenced their operation.

"Young Dorton will live. And he'll be able to walk with his own legs and work with his own hands.

"Blood—the stuff you can't buy, the stuff that doctors can use only because people give it—performed this miracle."

BOARD IS NAMED BY ROTARY CLUB FOR PARK PLANS

Farm Chemurgic Specialist Discusses Possibilities for Agriculture

Newbrey, Ray Brandenburg and A. B. Murray.

Dr. Limes expressed the hope that when the committee begins working on the projects, a picnic for Rotarians and their families would inaugurate use of the park before the end of the summer.

Ray Brandenburg, chairman of the blood donor service unit here, appealed to the group for donations when the Red Cross mobile unit comes here Monday and Tuesday.

LITTLE'S SPEECH

Little, of the National Farm Chemurgic Council and a Columbus Rotarian, told of the products developed through chemurgy from agricultural by-products.

Nearly 100 specimen of materials made from these by-products were displayed. From skim milk alone came plastics, fibers, felt hats—even an entire dress made from 40 pounds of skimmed milk. Rubber and fibers from soybeans; sponges, rayon yarn and plastics from cellulose; rubber from dandelions and synthetic materials made from potato starch, corn and flax straw.

President W. H. Limes announced the committees, after their names had been submitted to the board of directors for approval, at the meeting where Ernest L. Little of Columbus spoke on chemurgy and its relation to agriculture.

Billie Wilson heads the park committee of Carroll Halliday, Glen Woodmansee, Frank Jackson, F. E. Hill and Marilyn Riley, which will be in charge of the operation and policies of the park.

FEWER USE TAX STAMPS ISSUED

Drop in Number of Motor Vehicles Indicated

Apparently there are fewer automobiles in Fayette County than a year ago, based on figures just announced by Postmaster W. E. Passmore, who said that the number of federal use tax stamps issued during the past month reached 4,025 as compared with 4,328 for the same time last year.

However there are four other Post Offices in the county that sell stamps, so more owners might have purchased from the other offices, thus decreasing the number bought at the office in this city.
